WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 10, '83

The intense interest which prevailed here, in the various State elections, has given way to a feeling of serene satisfaction among Democrats, and a corresponding depression in the ranks of the administration Republicans. More interest was felt here in Virginia than in any other State, because it was thought to have a more important bearing upon the approaching Presidential election. The result there is not very encouraging to the President, whose only really distinct policy has been the alliance with Mahoney. It now looks as though the Arthur delegation, promised by Mahoney, to the Republican National Convention would not be such a powerful factor in the deliberation of that body as was once anticipated. The little Virginia trickster and trader, for whom the Republicans in the Senate and in the administration paid such a big price, is irretrievably crushed. Taking the results over the country as a whole, the general feeling here is that Mr. Arthur's boom has been punctured. His chances for a renomination are now considered just about as slim as would be his hope of election if nominated. For weeks the administration organ here has been proclaiming that the only hope of the Republicans for success in '84 was in carrying Virginia and North Carolina. That hope has now become one of the most forlorn possible political ploys ever contemplated, and the leaders fully realize it notwithstanding all their efforts at whistling to keep up the courage of the rank and file.

The influx of politicians and prominent people is increasing daily now.
Ex-Senator Stewart, of Nevada, has been here lately looking after the improvements to "Stewart Castle," one of the most conspicuous private buildings in the city. Since the fire which destroyed the tower a few years ago, it has not attracted so much attention; but this season it has been restored to somewhat of its former appearance, though painted a dark color.
Mr. Stewart does not look a day older than when he left the Senate.
There is a fresh color in his face, a sparkle in his eyes and a vitality in his very movement that many a young man might envy. He says he is not coming to Washington yet.
He will wait until he is an old man.
Mr. Stewart will probably spend the winter here occupying the Castle.
House building represents a pretty serious business for the brave-hearted ex-Senator. At nine different times in his life he has built a handsome house for a home, and each time he has finished the house he has been bankrupted. It is said he is never so cheerful and happy as when he has had everything in the way of fortune swept away. Then he gathers his wife and babies about him and says with a happy smile, "Well, darlings, we will have to try again, I guess." Mr. Stewart says that he does not believe General Grant or any one else will make much out of their investments in the southwestern railroad system, if they have gone in for a permanent investment.
The railroads being built through Mexico run through a poor country, where the inhabitants are too lazy to work, and will not develop their country, no matter what opportunity is offered them.

That the ensuing season is to be an unusually lively one at the capital is evidenced in the preparations being made on every hand. There is greater demand for big houses and for first-class hotel accommodations than I have ever known before. The big hotels are all receiving orders for ap-partments, and putting themselves in position to take charge of many distinguished guests. The largest and most popular of all—the Willard—promises to be more popular than ever this winter. This hotel is always the great rendezvous of evenings when Congress is in session, and its lobbies and corridors present a lively scene any evening between six and ten o'clock. If you want to find anybody or see any Congressmen or other official between those hours, it is pretty safe to look for him at Willard's. For this reason it is the favorite stopping-place for those who come here on public business.

After the death of Mr. Cook, the late proprietor, the house was leased by O. G. Staples, Esq., formerly proprietor of the Thousand Island House, Alexandria Bay, N. Y., who has made many changes and improvements. Even Chicago and New York, the great hotel towns of the world can offer in their best hotels no finer or better accommodations than this house affords.

According to the signs cropping out here there will be a strong attempt made at the approaching Congress to erect two new States out of the Territory of Dakota. This movement proceeds from a bitter sectional

"I see you are growing a mustache, George," said she, as she caressed the lapel of his coat. "Ye-es," stammered George, blushing furiously, "I—I am trying to cultivate one, Arabella." Don't it feel funny on your lip?" she asked. "Well, no," he laughed regaining his composure, "it seems quite natural." "I wonder how a mustache would feel on my lip," she said with a far away, absent look in her eyes. "You needn't wonder long, then," said George, as he bent down.
"Oh, you forward thing," she exclaimed, "I've a good mind to make you take that back again." And he did.
—Somerville Journal.

A Northern drummer, having occasion to visit Harrodsburg last week, and hearing what a place it is for shooting people, had the stage driver to let him out at the edge of town.
He procured a stick and tied his white handkerchief to it, and marched into town under a tree of grace, as he explained to those who saw him.
He transacted his business and got safely out of town, and lives to tell that he has done so. Will some of our brother editors over there inform us if it is really necessary for a stranger to carry a flag of truce in visiting that place?—Ashland Independent.

There will be 325 members in the next House of Representatives instead of the two 233 of the last House.
The Eastern States have the 75 they had in the last House; the Western States have 109 instead of 92; the Southern States have 121 instead of 108. The Democrats have majority of 61.

Who Struck Billy Mahoney?

It is thus that the query has been metamorphosed, since somebody had the audacity to strike Virginia's great Senator at a voting place in Petersburg on Tuesday last. Now, Petersburg is where Mahoney lives, and he rode in his carriage to a voting place in the Fourth ward of the city on election day and somebody struck him. Who it was has not yet been found out, and he offers $100 for the information. He grossly insulted a black voter, who was about to vote the Democratic ticket, and refused to change it, by saying out aloud, that he (the black) had been bought up and "had funder money in his pocket." We have not a particle of doubt that this was the man who struck him; and who could blame him for doing it? The taunting remark, and open charge of bribery, shows the estimate in which the colored voters are held by Mahoney; when they do not see as he wants them to do. Let the query still continue to be propounded —"Who struck Billy Mahoney?"—Henderson Reporter.

"Mister, I say, I don't suppose you don't know of nobody what don't want to hire nobody to do nothing, don't you?" The answer was, "Yes, I don't."

"Waiter," said a commercial traveler, "what is this?" "It's bean soup-sir," was the reply. "No matter what it has been, the question is, what is it now?" continued the traveler.

THREE WEDDING GOWNS.

A Discription of Bridal Toilets That Are Both Lovely and Novel.

[New York Evening Post.]

Some rich wedding toilets just completed in this city are worthy of note by reason of their extreme beauty and novelty as models for brides. An exquisite robe designed for a prospective bride in Washington, is made of heavy white velvet, trimmed with deep flounce of duchesse lace, headed by downy bands of white ostrich feather trimming. The effect of the fall of the exquisite, delicate and rich lace over the soft white velvet is exceedingly lovely, the whole dress proving much more becoming to ordinary complexions than opaque white satin.

A second bridal dress is made of white Ottoman silk, broadened with tiny golden roses and leaves. The petticoat is of pale golden satin, hand-painted in clusters of white lilies and full-blown white roses. The lower edge of the court train is battlement-ed—i. e., cut in square blocks and faced. Underneath these blocks is set a ruffle of gold lace, falling over a second one of killed silk. The Josephine corsage is cut out very much in the neck in casement shape and trimmed to match the edge of the train.

Lastly for a very youthful bride is a charming toilet, composed of plain white Ottoman silk and made in regular Grecian style, the chaste and artistic arrangement of each softly draped fold and curve giving a most graceful and statuesque effect to the whole. The trained skirt is perfectly plain, but the lace drapey of the Grecian bodice is to be fastened with magnificent diamond clasp, and the square neck and edges of the half-open sleeves are finished with rare old point lace.

A Clever Trick

Last Saturday a farmer brought a basket of eggs to the Kirksey's hotel and offered them for sale. As that fruit was in great demand, Mr. Fleming eagerly closed a trade.
They were counted and six dozen was the result, but when the cook commenced to use them he found a gourd just the shape and size of an egg. Nothing was said of the first one, but after discovering two or three more he grew suspicious and examined the whole six dozen when it was found that Mr. Fleming had purchased five dozen of eggs and one dozen gourds, the gourds resembling an egg so much that Mr. Fleming had not observed them when counting. When a farmer resorts to such low tricks for the pitiful sum of fifteen cents what would he do if several dollars were in question.—Fulton Fultonian.

1883 has witnessed the greatest improvements in Sewing Machines since their introduction, therefore it is to your interest to examine, see and get the best and latest improved Machines. To that fact I invite you to call at my office and see the Machines I have or write me a card and I will send one for your inspection. I am a first-class machinist, having served a regular apprenticeship at the Sewing Machine factory and fitted up a shop in Hopkinsville with all the tools necessary to repair all kinds of Sewing Machines, I can do the best of work and guarantee satisfaction. I am an expert in everything related to the Sewing Machine and if you have any work to be done in that line it will be to your interest to bring it to my shop. Besides being a thorough adjuster myself I have in my employ one of the best adjusters in the State of Kentucky. A full supply of Parts, Attachments, Oils, Etc., always on hand. In buying a Machine from me you are not investing in an uncertainty, for if the Machine needs any attention you can write me or leave word at my shop and it will be attended at once. I have several patents of my own "get up" which I put on all the Machines I sell, and if you wish to buy a machine all I ask is for you to examine my Machines at my office or at your house. Having my own teams and traveling all the time it will be no trouble for me to bring you one and show you what it will do, and then you can be your own judge.

Respectfully,
N. B.—In writing to me state where you live.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1883.

Senior Juan Valera has been appointed Spanish Minister to Washington.

The receipts of the Louisville Exposition during the 100 days of its existence were over $200,000.

Mr. Jas. N. Banks has reconsidered his determination to leave Henderson and will retain his position with the News.

Chang Yu Sing, the Chinese giant who is 8 feet 4 inches high, and weighs 400 pounds, arrived in New York last week.

A number of our enterprising exchanges have already announced the startling fact that Christmas is coming.

The Washington dispatches say either Evans or Crumbaugh will have to go when Congress meets. It will not be Evans.

Ex-Senator Theodore F. Randolph, of New Jersey, died of heart disease a few days ago, at his home in Morristown, in the 58th year of his age.

The Elkton Register devotes a column to a criticism of the Clarksville Chronicle's English. It is enough to make a prohibitionist smile to read it.

The first colored man who ever passed examination in the Judicial Department in New York was admitted to the bar of the Supreme court in that state last week.

The walls of the burned Kimball House fell at Atlanta Thursday, crushing to death a boy named Charles Washington. The owners at once compromised with his parents by paying them $200.

Patrick O'Donnell, the slayer of James Carey, the Irish informer, will be put on trial at London, Nov. 23. He was formerly a citizen of Ireton, O. and was naturalized under the laws of Ohio, Nov. 6, 1876.

John Waffan, a Prussian at Cleveland, Ohio, won a wager of one dollar by drinking fifteen glasses of whisky in fifteen minutes and died from the effects two days later. The question now is, should the debt be liquor-dated?

The thermometer registered 30 degrees below zero at Bismarck, Dakota, last Thursday and in some parts of the Northwest it went down to 40 degrees. If it keeps on at that rate they will have some weather up there before the winter is over.

The Evansville Journal wants Gen. W. T. Sherman to head the next Republican Presidential ticket, and run on his war record. Yes, nominate Sherman by all means, the South is dying for a chance to assist him in making a political "march to the sea."

A girl in Marysville, Cal., has opened a shop to sell kisses—not candy kisses but the sure enough article. She retails them at 25 cents a dozen and the first week she sold 47 dozen. Unlike other mercantile establishments it will not hurt her to "bust," in fact the more she busts the better it will be for her business.

A World's Exposition and Cotton Centennial will be held at New Orleans next year, under the auspices of the United States government, the National Cotton Planters' Association and the City of New Orleans. It will open the first Monday in December, 1884, and close not later than May 31st, 1885. It will include the exhibition of all arts, manufactures and products of the soil and mine and will be the most extensive exposition ever held in the South.

The Calhoun Courier never heard of ex-Lieutenant Governor Dorsheimer, of New York, until the Owensboro Messenger suggested him as a candidate for the Vice-Presidency, and thinks he should be "put into a pill box until he matures into a seasonable candidate for the legislature." Mr. Dorsheimer was elected on the State ticket in New York, headed by Sam'l J. Tilden for Governor, in 1875, if we remember correctly, and he is one of the most prominent and popular members of the Democratic party in his state and by no means an impossibility as a factor of the next Democratic Presidential ticket.

Charlie Credle, a prosperous young planter, was married to one of the belles of Hyde county, N. C., at Currituck, a rural village. A large crowd was present and all partook of a bounteous repast of good things in the old fashioned dining room. Wine was served and some of the young men partook so freely that they became first animated, then excited, then turbulent, and, in a misunderstanding about the dance to follow, pistols were drawn with fatal effect. Chas. Ballance the groom's best man was killed and Thos. Sidon, another groomsmen, fatally shot. The bride couple sat up all night with the dead and wounded.

TRENTON LETTER.

A SOCIETY EVENT.

There are some who always discuss marriage from a worldly point of view. To those the culminating of the happy event of Nov. 8th, must be pronounced "a good match." Those who look deeper and recognize the true worth of the man and the superior excellence of the woman, do not doubt that the marriage of Mr. Frank Walton to Miss Charlie Ware will be productive of the greatest happiness.

The home of the bride's hospitable father was thrown open to the intimate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, and joy reigned supreme during the whole evening. To the strains of the wedding march, so delightfully discoursed by Miss Cabanis, the bridal party entered the room in the following order: Mr. Golladay with Miss Annie Ware, who wore a beautiful costume of satin and swan's down. Mr. Byars with Miss Annie Dickinson, in a lovely nun's veiling and silk. Mr. Day with Miss Lizzie Ware, the only sister of the bride, and who bids fair to surpass her in beauty when years have changed her childish face into womanly loveliness. Mr. Fort entered with Miss Mamie Gooch, attired in a dress of satin and lace of great beauty. Last came the bride in a dress of the costliest silk and lace, her sweet serious face, half hidden by the veil which trailed to the hem of her robe. The only ornaments were a full set of diamonds, a present from the devoted father. The groom and groomsmen wore the regulation suit of black and were without gloves. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Lockett in so impressive a manner that no one present failed to look on it, as not only a civil contract but as a holy ordinance. Supper was then announced, but here words failed me. A veritable feast of the gods, presided over by the skillful household fairy, Miss Lizzie Fort. The presents were numerous and very handsome, amounting to many hundreds in value. A reception was given the next evening at the home of Dr. Walton. This equaled the previous occasion in style and elegance.

The bride has been an attractive factor in society since her debut, and few are they who have not been impressed by her face and manners. It is a beautiful thought that from being a gay society woman she may subside into the demurest of matrons, sinking her identity utterly and forever in the future of her chosen groom. Marriage, "the blight or bloom of all men's happiness," can not fail to be to them productive of the greatest good that comes to us mortals—a happy life in this and the world to come. A GUEST.

Warehousemen vs. Grangers.

EDITOR SOUTH KENTUCKIAN: In your "plain statement of facts" in your issue of Nov. 9th, you state some things from inadvertency or want of proper information which are not facts. These errors are of little consequence and doubtless wholly unintentional on your part. We do not make public the minutia of our business transactions, and you as an outsider could not have access to the facts. The Grangers did not "rise up in arms, so to speak" nor did they make any "formal demand for a rebate." The warehousemen had made their own terms for selling tobacco which they had a perfect right to do. And had also a paper resolution that "no granger should be employed as agent for any warehouse." When the Committees from the two granges met, as usual, to give an opportunity for (not to demand) propositions for the grange business, with the exception of one warehouse, they did not give the Committee an opportunity for any conference, simple statements were left with their subordinates that they desired to make no propositions. This of course had to be accepted by the Committee as they had no desire to force the grange business upon those unwilling to receive it, on any terms which could be mutually agreed upon.

This ended the matter so far as the warehousemen of Hopkinsville were concerned. Communication was held with warehouses in other places. A number of propositions were received. And after due consideration a satisfactory arrangement was made with the Planters House of Louisville, Ky. to sell our tobacco. Not, however, upon any such terms as you state. If Mr. Phelps' visit to Hopkinsville had any significance so far as grange matters were concerned we had no knowledge of it. All the propositions from Louisville had already been received and acted upon.

This whole matter should be looked upon as a plain business transaction. Those who make produce surely have the right to seek that market which they deem best for their interest. Who has any right to complain? If the warehousemen of Hopkinsville fail to get the Grange tobacco it is their own fault. And if it be true, as stated by one of their number, that they have been selling at a loss, they should not desire it. We have never asked nor desired anyone to do business for us at a price that would not pay a fair remuneration for the services rendered. But farmers cannot fairly be expected to pay remunerative prices to double the number of persons needed to do their business. It is also true, that while we seek to do the best we can for ourselves, we should try to do as little harm to the warehousemen and the editors for their timely warnings and advice. But having passed the age for guardianship and feeling amply able to take care of ourselves, we beg to be allowed peaceably to have our own way.

The Grange teaches no principles we need be ashamed of. Our declaration of purposes is as fine in sentiment, as exalted in purpose and as free from error as any similar uninspired declaration promulgated for the guidance of men. Every other class of citizens from the humble boot-black to the wealthiest bankers and railroad kings are organized for their mutual benefit. Why then should not farmers organize for their mutual improvement, benefit and protection? The Grange is the only organization that supplies this needed want, and should be the home of every farmer. But we had no intention to write on the purposes of the order, and only say to our Grange friends be true to the grand principles of our order, and never forget your obligation to be true and faithful patrons of husbandry. GRANGER.

CASKY.

Misses Lide and Ellen Garnett are visiting friends in Elkton.

Miss Mary Warfield went to Hopkinsville Friday to attend the concert. Misses Frankie Wood and Lou Young, from Nashville, are visiting Mrs. W. H. Whitlow.

Geo. Winfrey and family have moved to the old Casky homestead to live.

Elder James Campbell and the parson made a brief visit to the Station last week.

Miss Jennie Casky, who has been very ill, is so far recovered as to be up again.

The Railroad Co. are making some improvements at the Station, by painting the targets, putting down new crossings, &c.

Miss Bell Catlett, from Tenn., is the guest of Mrs. Wint Henry this week. Mrs. Nora Murphy, from Saint Charles, is visiting friends in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Minnie Trice, accompanied by Wallace Warfield and wife, returned to Hopkinsville Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. M. A. Maxey, accompanied by her children, is visiting her friends in this vicinity.

R. H. Lugram, from Crofton, and James Bronaugh, of Hopkinsville, were among the visitors to the Station last week.

Porter Peyton read a dime novel last week entitled "The Ranger's Revenge" and now he wants to be a festive cow boy and kill people.

The Grange had a meeting last Friday with but slim attendance. Weather too cool and everybody busy gathering corn.

Monday night there was the regular monthly mob on hand at the Station, cursing and shooting. Dr. Gunn returning from a professional visit was sprinkled with shot near the church. Some one fired a load of shot down the road in his direction with a reckless disregard for human life. Is there no law in the land to punish such carelessness, and to make it safe for a person to pass along a highway? SALLIE.

KENTUCKY KNOWLEDGE.

Mrs. Lizzie Hampton fell dead in Franklin county.

Burglars entered several dwelling houses in Bowling Green last week. The Franklin Favorite objects to the farmers hitching their horses to the Court house fence.

The Telephone is agitating the question of a town clock for the new Court House in Cadiz.

The Crittenden Press has a fine corps of correspondents and is a first-class local paper.

W. S. Humphrey was killed by a train in Marion county. He was 60 years old and was a native of Trigg county, Ky.

W. J. Potter and Jip McLure accomplished the feat on roller skates of skating up an inclined plane at an angle of 45 degrees, in Bowling Green, last week.

The Park City Times says a prairie owl measured 34 inches from tip to tip was killed in Warren county last week. It is a very rare bird in Kentucky.

The Norton Iron Works and nail factory of Ashland, were burned last week. Loss, $180,000, one-third covered by insurance. 500 workmen were thrown out of employment.

EDWARD WILDER'S

Never fails to cure Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Colic and Flux. It will Cure Constipation. It is a safe Anti-Bilious Alternative.

It is a mild and Delightful Invigorant for Delicate Women, a powerful recuperant after the effects of disease, debilitated and reduced by sickness, an excellent appetizer, gives tone to the digestive organs, prevents Malaria, braces up the system, strengthens the portal circulation and clears the whole animal economy from the seeds of disease. The slightest attack of fever may be a prelude to the worst, and the remedy that would conquer it while it is yet in its commencement, may be of no value when it is at its full development. Particularly in this case with persons around whom the pestiferous influence of Malaria clings in the form of Dumb Chills, Brown Ague, Painful Spleen, and Weak Stomach.

For the Cure of all the above Diseases this preparation stands unrivaled, and its good and permanent effects are attested by thousands, and it is recommended alike by the ablest medical men and the military.

TRY IT, all you that are afflicted, and be convinced of its wonderful power and beneficial effects.

There being no special demand either local or South, for work stock, bidding was very dull, though a large crowd attended. Next sale, Saturday, Dec. 15th, after which this sale will be held semi-monthly, occurring on the second and fourth Saturday in each month, sale to begin promptly at 1 o'clock.

Polk Candler, Manager.

Mr. M. D. Kelly left Wednesday for Hopkinsville where he will reside in the future. He has been a citizen of Cadiz seventeen years and was always recognized as a useful one. He leaves a wide circle of friends in Trigg county all of whom regret to give him up. He came to Cadiz a stranger, and without any means, comparatively, except that which the God of nature had endowed him with, his superior genius; now he ranks as one of the most successful business men that ever lived in Cadiz. As a watch maker and jeweler he cannot be excelled in the state. His invention for repairing watches has made him considerable character. He informs us that during his long stay in Cadiz none of his customers have ever made complaint to him that his goods or work were not as represented. We heartily commend him to the people of Hopkinsville as a worthy gentleman in every respect.—Cadiz Telephone.

A baby was born in a cemetery at Marshalltown, Iowa, a short time ago, but every-where can be seen babies borne to the cemetery because mothers cruelly neglect to procure Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, a sure cure for croup, colds and coughs.

HERE AND THERE.

W. F. Patton, Life Insurance.
A. D. Rodgers, Fire Insurance.

Many farmers killed their hogs last week.

The saloon stock of L. T. Gaines & Co. was sold at auction yesterday.

The concert for the benefit of the Episcopal church, was well attended Friday night.

Dr. L. G. Alexander has rented the Robinson cottage on South Main St. and gone to housekeeping.

Rev. Chas. Morris preached to Rev. J. W. Venable's congregation, at the Court House, Sunday.

The ladies of the Charity Association will give their supper at the City Court room on the 30th instead of the 29th inst.

If you want a good buggy cheap don't fail to inspect the vehicles in the old Main Street Warehouse.

Messrs. Burbridge Bros. will move their grocery to the present stand of Messrs. Guyon & Merritt, on Main street, next year.

The Henry College Lottery drawing will take place at Louisville, Ky., the 29th inst. Call at Express office and secure tickets.

The protracted meeting advertised did not begin at the Baptist church Sunday, but is expected to begin in a few days.

We have looked through the stock of buggies for sale at the Main Street Warehouse, and would advise all who want a buggy to examine them before buying.

Rev. S. E. Wishard is expected to arrive the latter part of the week to begin a series of meetings at the First Presbyterian Church. He is the Synodical evangelist of the State.

C. B. Bishop's "Strictly Business," Comedy Company has been secured as a special Thanksgiving attraction for the 29th. It is one of the best comedy companies on the road.

The store on West Main street, occupied last by S. A. Nance, is being remodeled and a new front put in it and it will be occupied next year by the grocery store of Messrs. Guyon & Merritt.

Buggies with and without tops, doctor's phaetons, spring wagons, etc., in great variety are now on sale at the Main Street Warehouse. They are the work of J. B. Dennis & Co., of Lexington, Ky., and those wanting a vehicle should call and examine them before purchasing.

According to the published report, Mr. E. M. Plack, of this city, drew one-fifth of a $10,000 prize in the last drawing of the Louisiana lottery. The ticket which proved lucky was 59,499 and two-fifths of it were drawn in Chicago and Washington and two-fifths remained unsold.

We regret to hear of the death of Mr. John Clardy, which occurred at his residence near Jordan Springs last Saturday night. He was about 58 years of age and was highly esteemed by his neighbors.—Clarksville Chronicle.

Farmers are reminded that there is no law to prevent them from selling fresh meat on the streets in this city. There is a demand for "back bones and spare ribs" that will enable the farmers to dispose of their surplus to an advantage. The butcher shops are unable to supply the demand at 8 cts. per pound.

A new schedule of time was adopted all over the country Sunday. The railroad and telegraph offices are now operating by the new time. At this place time pieces were set back eighteen minutes. Heretofore our time has been twelve minutes faster than the true sun time and by the change it is six minutes slower.

Mr. James Haegerty, who has been in the employ of Mr. M. D. Kelly for the past three months left Wednesday for Hopkinsville to resume his duties in the new jewelry store of Mr. Kelly in that place. His quiet, unassuming manners and industrious habits won him many friends during his stay here.—Cadiz Telephone.

We give space this week to a letter from a Granger on the Grange tobacco muddle. We did not vouch for the absolute accuracy of our statements in the article of Nov. 9th, but our object was to give our readers the news as nearly correct as possible, with our meager facilities for getting at the facts. Of course we had no intention of misrepresenting either side, and our columns are open to any who feel themselves aggrieved.

Miss Tillie Watkins, of Hixburgh, Appomattox county, Va., who visited the family of Dr. Jas. Wheeler two or three years ago, was married on the 14th inst. to Mr. Thos. L. Kyle, of Virginia. Miss Watkins was a most beautiful and attractive representative of the "Old Dominion" belles, and during her stay of several months in this county she won many friends and admirers who will wish her the greatest happiness she could desire, in the companionship of him to whom she has given her heart and hand. We beg leave to offer our sincerest and warmest congratulations.

LURID FLAMES.

Six Days Shalt Thou Work and the Seventh—Put Out Fire.

A $5,800 BLAZE—HALF INSURED.

Fire! fire!! fire!!! was the cry that suddenly rang out and broke the stillness of the Sabbath day, at 11:45 o'clock Sunday. Ministers cut short their sermons and the loafers on the street corners took up the cry and soon the city was alive with a crowd of excited men, women and children hurrying to and fro with alarm depicted on their faces. The bells rang and the members of the fire company rushed from the churches, and their homes and in ten minutes were on the way to the scene of the conflagration. The worshippers at church, without waiting for a benediction, rushed out and ran for the spot and went to work manfully in their best Sunday attire. The fire was found to be in the coal office of Underwood, Ellis & Co., on Adams street, between Campbell and Railroad. When discovered the flames were breaking through the roof and it was seen at a glance that the building could not be saved. The scales of the coal yard, covered by a shed, joined the burning building to a large frame warehouse, owned by B. T. Underwood and used as a storage room by various parties. In a few minutes the flames had caught this and as a steady wind was blowing in a northwesterly direction, the old building burned with alarming rapidity. The hose cart became detached from the fire engine and caused some delay and it was twenty minutes before it began throwing water from Coleman's pond. The warehouse was falling in then and they went to work to save the adjacent buildings. Mrs. Coleman's residence, just east of the starting point, was saved by the heroic efforts of the crowd, who kept the back end of the house saturated with water and the roof covered with wet blankets. A small cottage across Adams street, in the direction the wind was blowing, could not be saved but was blown in flames. The residence of Nelson Cross, col., on east side of it was saved with great difficulty and the progress of the flames stopped on the east side. Directly north of the warehouse was a vacant lot with a small frame warehouse in the southeast corner of it. This was filled with hay and machinery and was burned in spite of all efforts to save it. In the meantime the engine and a number of patent force pumps were doing valiant service to save the large frame planing mill and lumber yard of Jno. Orr & Co., west of the burning houses, separated only by the railroad. There were several coal cars standing on the track and these protected the lumber to some extent and helped to stop the progress of the devouring element. The mill was saved by the hardest. The flouring mills of F. L. Ellis & Co., on the railroad, to the northwest, were also in considerable danger, but were saved by carefully watching the burning chips and using water wherever they fell. During the hottest of the fire burning chips were carried several hundred yards and several houses set on fire in this way. Every house-top in the vicinity had a man on it with a bucket of water to put out the burning fragments that were constantly falling. Mrs. Ellis dwelling, three squares to the northwest was fired in this way. Chas. M. Meacham's, next to Mrs. Ellis', was set on fire in five different places. An old frame stemmy building, adjoining the People's Warehouse, was set in four places and the blaze in one place was burning at an alarming rate when discovered. It was extinguished by the prompt and effective exertions of Mr. W. L. Blanton, who was formerly connected with the fire company of Clarksville. An old frame house back of Capt. Abernathy's residence, eight squares from the fire, was ignited and was burning on the roof when discovered. A small warehouse back of Ellis' mill was also fired on the roof in two places. The wind shifted to the north in the midst of the fire, almost providentially it seemed, and some tenement houses between Ellis' mill and the fire were saved by hard work.

THE LOSSES.

Underwood, Ellis & Morrow, coal office and office furniture, $250; No insurance.

B. T. Underwood, warehouse $2,000; insurance $2,000. Scales $250 no insurance.

T. J. Morrow, hay stored in warehouse and an iron safe, etc., $500; no insurance.

G. W. Metcalfe & Bro. fertilizer, machinery, etc., mostly saved, but loss estimated at $450, insurance $150. Machinery belonging to the late firm of N. B. Edmunds & Co. was stored in the small warehouse and with about $40 worth of hay was burned. Loss estimated at $1,500 with no insurance on the house or machinery.

Alonso Hill, cottage tenement house, and out houses about $700; insurance $500.

B. F. Keeler's family occupied the same and sustained considerable damage to furniture in moving, estimated at $50.

Mrs. Coleman's damages were probably $50, fully insured. Three railroad cars were set on fire and badly damaged before they were pulled out of the fire. One telegraph post was burned and the wires broken.

SUMMED UP.

Losses, actual and estimated, $5,800. Insurance, 2,700. Loss above insurance, 3,100.

NOTES.

Wm. Merriweather, col., slept in the coal office the night before. He says there was no fire left in it, but there must have been as the fire started on the inside and no incendiary would have chosen the day time to start a conflagration.

The escape from a disastrous conflagration was very narrow indeed. If the planing mill had caught, the fire would have spread over more territory than the one last October and been equally as disastrous.

The insurance losses fall on the following agencies:

Winfrey & Kelly, $2,000.
Wallace, Long & Garnett, 500.
J. E. McPherson, 150.
Callis & Hays, 50.

Besides the losses enumerated above several persons lost their presence of mind.

Last Thursday was the coldest 15th of November ever recorded by the Signal service office at Washington.

Why is the upstairs in a theatre cation to write doggerel poetry, makes a Tarn the Mother Hubbard out! As a tury.—Licking Valley Scorch.

Frank James was brought into continue the case against him for the murder of Captain Sheets, and that the prisoner be turned over to Marshal

SOME THINGS I HAVE NOTICED.
I have noticed that when a horse gets up he gets up forward first and jerks his hind parts after him, while a cow will get her rear half up all right and draw her forward half up in place; also, when drinking, a horse will draw in water rapidly with every breath; the cow, on the contrary, will suck in one continuous draught as long as she can hold her breath.

I have noticed that sheep and goat are both butters, yet a sheep has got a few steps backward before he can butt, while the goat has to raise himself on his hind legs to execute the same movement. One is called a buck sheep, the other a battering ram. They are the only two animals I know of whose butt ends are in front.

A squirrel can run down a tree head first. The cat and the bear must get down tail first (if left to themselves).

If your dog finds his way into your cellar and sees a nice steak he will steal it and run out, but if your cat gets in and finds a steak, she will sit right down by it and eat what she wants (if not surprised before).

I have noticed that a leather strap buckled about the height of yourself around a young tree in a few years will be away beyond your reach, but if nailed at the same distance will never get any higher (only the outer shell runs up).

Although turkeys are much more swift of foot than geese, yet in a week's drive a flock of geese will come in ahead; for geese you can drive at night, especially moonlight, but when evening approaches turkeys will roost.

A man can stand on one foot in the middle of a room and pull on his shoe, while a woman must lean up against something to accomplish the same thing.

A man holds the needle in his left hand to thread it, but a woman holds it in her right.

In one thing I think every one will agree with me: Dress a man as a woman dresses and you will freeze him to death.

TO READ A NEWSPAPER.
The wife of a well-known journalist once said that she could always pick out a trained journalist in a public place by the manner in which he held and turned his newspaper. It is surprising how many people think they must hold out two extended pages at once, with their fists in the faces of their neighbors, and with the paper scraping their ears and eyes. Any man of sense can fold one page in half lengthwise, turning it from right to left as he wishes a new half, and where pages need cutting a pencil latterly managed does the work in a second. The owner of the paper can also comfortably and easily hold his paper in a double-page shape.

Forty-nine out of every fifty beggars are rank swindlers and base impostors, and yet the average beggar collects about 70 cents per day.

PLEASANTRIES.

A SERENADE ought to be set in a night key.

A DIME novel is of course in ten-cent station.

When a business is "run down" it is time to have it "wound up."

The vegetarian's diminutive pleasant-y —"It's rare that I eat meat."

"Here's your ring," said the bell to the belle, and the wedding went on.

At the Hub—"I am tired," said the wheel. "Poor fellow," spoke the axle, wagon his tongue.

"Fortune knocks once at every man's door," but misfortune stalks in many times without knocking.

PATTI is thirty-nine years old, and has been just that old so long she is used to it and it doesn't worry her a cent's worth.

A LITTLE girl being asked what she was doing with her doll, replied that she was making her an angel and was about to sew on wings.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God." Nothing is said about an honest woman, because she isn't such an astounding variety.

What can make more vocal noise than a boy driving ten cows through a town?
Why, a boy driving two cows, of course.
The more cows the less noise.

"How old are you?" said an ancient dame to a grinning little tar-pot. "Well, if I go by what muddle says, I am most 10, but if I go by de fun I've had, I'm most 100."

ONE of the leading dailies of Chicago has resolved not to notice base-ball games hereafter. It wants all its space for reports of divorce cases.—Norristown Herald.

DEACON JONES was happy, indeed, when he was told that his daughters, dear girls, had gone to the revival.
His mother didn't tell him that it was a revival of "Pindore."—Boston Transcript.

A UTICA clergyman had occasion to refer in a sermon to the prophet Jonah, and the report says that he delicately spoke of him as having "passed three days and three nights in the whale's-them—society."

A TURKEY was shut up in a cellar in Clarke, Va., and lived five weeks without food or water. It is said that the turkey was forgotten, but we are inclined to think that it really was the turkeys are fattened for the city market.

At a young ladies' seminary recently, during an examination in history, one of the pupils was interrogated thus:
"Mary, did Martin Luther die a natural death?" "No," was the reply, "he was excommunicated by a bull."—Harvard Lampoon.

FIGURES won't lie, maybe, but you can't bet on the breadth of a man's shoulders or the girth of a woman's—hastily by a measure outside the dress or coat.
Oh, no, they won't lie, figures won't.
But a Newark cashier can make them dissimulate a little.

A LITTLE boy asked mamma the following question, to which all mamma's answers are not yet recorded: "Mamma, if a bear should swallow me I would die, wouldn't I?" "Yes, dear," "And would I go to heaven?" "Yes, dear,"
"And would the bear have to go too?"

THE USE OF THE BEAUTIFUL.
When falls the soulful moonbeam Upon the lady's face, And taintful feline chords re-
Their serenade commences, The suffering aesthetic, His utterance forgot, Hurts madly through the midnight air If a too-true similes poet.

PROF. BIZZAZZO, of Turin, has discovered a new and important constituent of the blood, which he calls "blut plattchen." They are lenticular bodies aggregated around the colorless corpuscles. It is enough to make a man sit down and cry with mortification to think that he has to go around with things like that in his blood, and no way of getting them out.—Harlette.

Driven off by Bees.
"The little busy bee" was once used in a naval fight in the Mediterranean.
A small vessel, which was suspected of belonging to pirates, was chased by a Turkish man-of-war, on board of which were 500 seamen and soldiers. As soon as the man-of-war came up to the privateer, several hundred men were sent in small boats to take possession of her.
When the small boats got alongside the "privateer," the latter's crew mounted the rigging, taking with them a dozen hives of bees, which they had stolen to sell on the Italian coast. At the word of command the bees were thrown into the boats among the Turks. The terrible time that followed was beyond description. Some of the soldiers jumped overboard to escape the furious insects, and in the excitement the privateer escaped. The scene was witnessed from the deck of an approaching English ship, which picked up two of the Turkish boats.

GLACE BEFORE MEAT.
In the good old times it would have been considered a breach of good breeding, if not open sin, to have sat down to a meal without returning thanks.
But times have now so greatly changed that the religious rite referred to is much more honored in the breach than in the observance. The change which has within the last half century or so taken place in the boarding system, in houses as well as restaurants, has doubtless had something to do with bringing about a change, as in a prominent company it would provoke ridiculous to ask a blessing on the viands laid on the table, more especially in a saloon.—Brooklyn Eagle.

VILLAGES IN CHINA.

Villages, not badly built by any means, occur at intervals of a mile or more apart all along the roads of China.
Very good brick—much about the same size, shape and material as those made in this country—compose the walls of the better houses, while for the poorer order of edifices mud is used. The brick walls in China are excellent—better than the cheap brick walls in America, and but little inferior to our best preserved brick. When villages are constructed of mud there is a striking resemblance to the villages of Egypt. The houses have no outside windows and but one opening, which is the door. The openings for lights are upon inner courts or back yards, and are without glass. The eaves are made to project, so as to keep out the rain, and in doing so exclude much light as well. Blinds made of slats are sometimes used, and thin, light paper pasted over the slats serves to keep out some of the cold air and let in a little light. The houses are invariably one story high, and at the bottom of this custom is a superstition that higher houses would interfere with the spirits of the air ("Fung Chui") and offend them, thus bringing disaster upon the house or village. In front of each door, and at a distance of eight or ten feet, stands a detached wall, fifteen feet long and as high as the eaves of the house, concealing the door from any person standing in front of it. This is for the purpose of defending the house and family from the malignant "Fung Chui" or spirits, which are popularly believed to fly only in straight lines and to be incapable of turning a corner. It follows that when traversing the air in search of a certain house when they come in contact with the wall they are thrown off at an angle, and thus baffled of their purpose, and fly in a tangent through un-infinite space and are lost. A Chinese village has but little in common with those of this country either in detail or in general appearance. While the villages of America, copied from English prototypes, are peculiar from their detached and separate build, with gardens and grass plots, those of China are compact, huddled together, and present from a distance the aspect of a mere dead wall. One peculiar aspect of all Chinese cities and villages is the absence of all steeples, spires or minarets of any kind. While Mohammedan countries have the mosque, with its flashing domes and graceful minarets, and European and American centers of population are marked by lofty towers and spires, China is almost absolutely without any of these striking architectural points. The result is great monotony and dullness of aspect.

MALE POCKETS.
The full-dressed male animal abounds in pockets; he has coat pockets, vest pockets, and pants pockets; breast pockets, side pockets, hand pockets, hip pockets in the overcoat, his niter and his rubber overalls; never less than sixteen to twenty of these economical hiding places for lots of articles—cash in loose change, cash in bills, lawyers' briefs, sermons, tradesmen's accounts, doctors' prescriptions, architects' drawings, tax-gatherers' blank books of all sorts and sizes, enough to stock a bookseller's stall or a merchant's counting-room. All kinds of pocket articles are enumerated and defined in the dictionary—pocket comb, pocket compass, pocket pistol, pocket money, pocket knife, pocket glass, pocket volumes, pocket inkstand, pen, pencil and the like.
A school-boy's pockets are a curiosity; a repository for nails, balls, jack-knives, gingerbread and apple cores, fishing worms and angle-worms, and as he grows older, billets from the girls, "excuses" from his mother and extra portions from his teacher. A female ecturer of some celebrity said "the only thing for which she envied a man was his multitude of pockets."
